Checklist: “5 Signs of a Scam”.

1

It asks for passwords or bank details

Trustworthy organisations do not ask for this information by message.

2

It pressures you to act immediately

Scam messages often try to make you feel worried or rushed.

3

It has a strange link or an unknown sender

Always check who sent it before tapping anything.

4

It asks you to confirm information

It says that your account is “at risk” and that you must verify your details.

5

It promises a gift or prize

It says that you have won something or that a discount is waiting for you, in order to tempt you.
